- Discovery channel for automation and agent opportunities

The Problem We're Solving

After the boot camp ends, companies face a critical gap. Their people know the basics, but:

- They run out of use cases and stop experimenting
- AI evolves faster than anyone can keep up with individually
- There's no accountability to actually implement what they've learned
- Power users plateau without continued guidance

The result: initial enthusiasm fades, adoption stalls, and the ROI from training diminishes over time.
